

GM Plants Operate Without any Contract

No Agreement Is Achieved By Deadline

Only Atlanta Plant Open Memorial Day, Others on Monday

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Today for the first time in 21 years, General Motors plants operated without a contract with 300,000 employe-members of the United Auto Workers Union.

Company and union negotiators failed to reach agreement on a new wage pact by midnight Thursday, when the three-year-old contract expired.

GM announced it would operate without a contract. That's what it did today at its Atlanta, Ga., plants. They were the only ones open on Memorial Day. No other GM plants are due back in operation until Monday.

And when GM union employes report Monday, they will not get either the two-cent hourly cost-of-living increase or a six-cent hourly productivity increase which they would have received under extension of the now expired contract.

GM announced this week that its 10,000 nonunion employes would get both increases June 1. It also said salaried personnel would get the equivalent.

The productivity increase, which has been effective annually, actually provides six cents hourly or 2 1/2 per cent, whichever is greater. In negotiations, GM offered to make it seven cents.

GM estimated its UAW members average $2.45 an hour, including 22 cents in cost-of-living allowances which rise or fall on indexes of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Workers reported in normal numbers at Atlanta and without incident. Gate patrols, recommended by the union's international headquarters to check on membership of workers and preserve a union shop, were not organized immediately in Atlanta.

The company rejected a last-minute bid Thursday night by the UAW to work out a temporary agreement covering GM workers.

The UAW then centered its attention on Ford and Chrysler in hopes of working out new agreements with both companies before current three-year contracts run out Sunday midnight.

GM, like Ford and Chrysler, stood steadfast through weeks of negotiations on its offer to extend the current agreement for two years.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen he was "disappointed but not bitter" over failure to agree on a new GM contract.

Latest Tornado Warning Unit In Service Monday

WICHITA (AP)—The Weather Bureau's latest gadget for probing tornadoes has been brought to Wichita and will go into service Monday.

It's called the Doppler Tornado Warning Unit. It detects and tracks storms with sound waves.

The important thing about the Doppler unit is that it can be used to measure the speed of winds in a tornado.

Its first encounter with a tornado was at Wichita Falls, Tex., April 3 and it came up with a wind reading of 250 miles an hour. Before that, meteorologists hadn't been able to get a measurement of much more than 100 miles an hour.

"The Doppler equipment had only a brief workout in Texas," said Victor V. Phillips, head of the Wichita Weather Bureau. "It still is in the experimental stage."

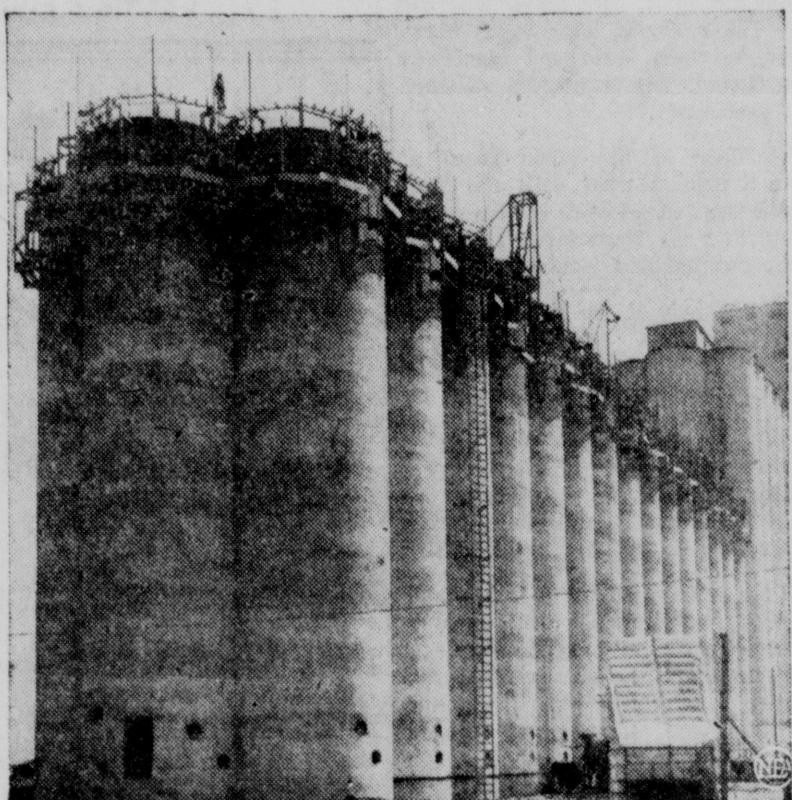

"Since it was in operation in the tornado which struck Wichita Falls, there is some difference of opinion about its effectiveness."

A Weather Bureau spokesman in Washington said it worked fine at Wichita Falls and "we are very pleased with it."

Phillips said the Doppler unit will be used in connection with conventional radar in Wichita.

It was brought into the area because Wichita is in "tornado alley," the pathway taken by a high percentage of the storms which develop in the southwest in the spring and summer.

By checking damage and other indicators, weather bureau experts have reached a conclusion: tornado winds sometimes churn up to 600 miles an hour.

Under Capitol Dome

Americans Provide Floral Tributes to Two Unknowns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Grateful and mournful Americans heaped highest honors today on the Unknowns of two wars.

At the Capitol where the nameless ones from the battlefields of World War II and Korea lay in state under the great dome, floral tributes piled higher in tier upon tier.

And as the hour approached for the final enshrinement of the two fighting men beside the Unknown Soldier of World War I, the procession of visitors kept filing past the twin catafalques in unending line.

A thousand an hour they walked past, a cross section of a nation.

Cardinal Stritch Body Brought Home to Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The body of Samuel Cardinal Stritch was brought to Chicago today—fulfilling one of his last wishes, but in an ironic way.

The plane bearing the prelate's body from Rome arrived at O'Hare Field. Hundreds of clergymen, city officials and men, women and children were at the airport.

When Cardinal Stritch left Chicago April 15 to take a post in the Vatican, he told the crowd at the La Salle St. Railroad Station he hoped to return to Chicago. And he added:

"I pray that some day you will come down to the railroad station to welcome me."

The body of the former archbishop of Chicago was borne in a motorcade from the airport northwest of the city to the area of Holy Name Cathedral on the Near North Side.

The 70-year-old cardinal died Tuesday in Rome after a stroke. He had gone to Rome to take charge of the church's worldwide missionary activities, the highest church post ever given a native American.

City Must Own Leaves If It Owns the Trees

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A leaf can be many things.

To Eve, it was a new dress—the world's first.

To Percy J. Powell it was a needle, aimed at the seat of the city government.

Powell wrote the City Council to the effect that since the city owns the trees planted down the sides of the streets, it must also own the leaves from the trees.

And he was tired of raking them. He added a suggestion that "one of your honorable body might need to rid himself of a few unnecessary pounds" and would like to rake some leaves himself.

That did it. The fat was in the fire.

Councilman Gerald Desmond protested that he and his colleagues were already underpaid and had no intention of adding manual labor to their duties.

Councilman Charles Garrison reached way back into English hunting law to point out that ownership lies where the stag falls, not where it is shot.

At last report no action had been taken and the leaf had completed another metamorphosis: from leaf, to dress, to needle—to hot potato.

Marshall Man Killed In Auto Accident

BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP)—Fred Schupp, 28, of Marshall, Mo., was one of two Carnegie Tech students killed in an accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike last night.

Schupp and the other victim, David Roland, 25, Ames, Iowa, were in a small sports car. Police said their car crossed the medial strip, hit another car and then a huge truck.

Pat O'Connor Dies In 12-Car Crash At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Pat O'Connor, young racing protege of the late Wilbur Shaw, was killed today in a thunderous 11-car crash on the first lap of the 42nd 500-mile auto race.

The handsome 29-year-old Irishman from North Vernon, Ind., an early leader in the race the last two years, met death in the wreck—with the 33 starting cars running in a bunch.

Dick Rathmann of Miami charged into the lead on the third turn then lost control on the third—northeast—corner of the 2 1/2-mile brick and asphalt track. As he spun, the other cars piled up.

Cars in the smashup included those of Ed Elisian, Bob Veith, Paul Russo, Paul Goldsmith, Al Bische, Len Sutton, Mike Magill, Shorty Templeman and Jerry Unser.

Unser suffered a dislocated right shoulder. Russo was able to get back on the track after repairs.

Templeman also got back into the race.

Unser, a first time starter, went over the wall in the first-lap crash.

O'Connor was a test driver for the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., when he was not racing.

He was wrecked in the first of his five Memorial Day starts, in 1954, when a freak storm hit only the southeast corner of the track, where he was running. He finished eighth in both 1955 and 1957 but was stopped in 1956 by a split radiator.

Dick Rathmann said, "Elisian said his brakes went out and he spun in front of me. My car was split in two and it was just a mess back there. I have only a few bruises."

The green light went back on for racing speed at 11:30 a.m. (CDT) 25 minutes after the crash. Favorite Jimmy Bryan was leading, followed by Eddie Sachs, Tony Bettenhausen, Johnny Boyd and Billy Garrett.

AF Denies B47 Deliberately Buzzed Airliner

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force vigorously denied today that one of its B47 jet bomber pilots had deliberately buzzed a commercial airliner carrying 57 passengers near Salina, Kan.

The denial was issued by Acting Secretary of the Air Force Malcolm A. McIntyre after a United Air Lines pilot reported the bomber flew directly across his route.

McIntyre categorically denied that the bomber pilot, Maj. Eugene Mathis, had buzzed the airliner. McIntyre said that at the time of the incident Mathis was flying in an authorized pattern in accordance with civil aeronautics procedures and current rules of the air.

One of the passengers aboard the airliner was Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.). Knowland said at San Francisco he dozed through the incident but that "such things aren't pleasant."

McIntyre said Mathis, a veteran Strategic Air Command pilot, has 5,500 flying hours to his credit. He said that when Mathis observed the airliner approaching him, he immediately initiated a right descending turn to insure clearance of the other aircraft.

"According to existing rules of the air this is the proper procedure," McIntyre said.

Bulldog Lives Up To Name of Rin-Tin-Tin

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A bulldog named Rin-Tin-Tin lived up to his name Thursday. He routed three robbers and saved the post office 300,000 pesos — $750.

The holdup trio had locked up the employes of a branch post office and were trying to open the safe when Rinty, the superintendent's pet, trotted in and attacked.

The robbers fled but piled up their getaway car and police caught them. The post office safe contained 300,000 pesos.

Judge Favors Highway In Condemnation

Circuit Judge Dimmitt Hoffman, in a recent note to Elmer Jaeger, Cooper County circuit clerk, stated that he has found in favor of the plaintiff, the Missouri State Highway Commission, in the condemnation suits filed by the state against land owners for the right-of-way on the proposed route for new U.S. Interstate Route FAI 1, which will bypass Boonville.

With his note to Jaeger, Judge Hoffman enclosed a memorandum of several pages which cited higher court decisions in cases similar to the one in this court.

Hoffman's note stated that the "court finds the issue in favor of the plaintiff with the commissioners to be appointed." The court will appoint commissioners to set valuations on the land and property which has been condemned.

The State Highway Commission will file an official decree of condemnation later.

In the case decided by Hoffman the defendants were Henry A. Oswald, Willis G. Raymond, Melvin Moehle, George Meredith, Lula May Lachner, Chester Hill, Cleveland Allee and Ira C. Sikes.

Only Oswald and Raymond had filed answers in the case. Both requested the court to dismiss the condemnation suit or at least postpone a decision until the Missouri Supreme Court had ruled on an appeal by the City of Boonville and some of its citizens now pending in that court.

On the same date as Hoffman's decision was received by Jaeger another condemnation suit was filed at Jaeger's office. This suit also involves land to be used for the proposed route of the new highway.

Defendants named in the second suit are, Leo G. Schwartz, Edward J. Oswald, Harrison G. Lee, William P. Pieper, Frank L. Sprock, Jr., Caroline P. Windsor and Eulah V. Farris.

Soviet Soon Capable Of Mounting A-Attack

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet equivalent of the American Strategic Air Command soon will be capable of mounting a major offensive with nuclear weapons of all types, Britain's Royal Air Force Flying Review said today.

The semi-official magazine said the Soviet bombing force still is smaller than SAC "but is being increased in strength and potency."

The Soviet Sac is known as the Dal'naya Aviatsiya—or DA.

The Flying Review said Da's strength is reliably estimated at some 1,500 medium and heavy bombers.

It said there are between 30 and 40 DA bases, mostly in central Europe.

French President Continues Urging General's Acceptance

PARIS (AP)—Socialist Leader Guy Mollet left Paris today to meet Gen. Charles de Gaulle amid predictions the World War II hero may take over as premier Sunday or Monday.

If the Socialists swing to De Gaulle, his approval by the National Assembly is assured.

Mollet, former premier, talked for a long time with President Rene Coty, who throughout the day has been urging political leaders to accept De Gaulle or face civil war.

War-time Premier Edouard Daladier told a meeting of his fellow Radical Socialists after talking with Coty that if all went well, De Gaulle would be invested as premier Sunday or Monday.

Daladier said the general had no intention of coming to the Assembly himself but probably would send a deputy.

The usually well informed independent newspaper Le Monde said De Gaulle's program, as being explained by Coty, included the demand of full powers for at least one year. During that time Parliament would be limited to one brief session of perhaps a month.

The powers granted De Gaulle would be used primarily to reform the governmental setup and restore peace in Algeria. A revised constitution would be submitted to the electorate in a referendum. Finally, De Gaulle would pledge not to stay in power after his one year mandate was up.

The 67-year-old World War II hero waited at his country home 150 miles away after agreeing to take the helm of state, but on his own stiff terms.

The politicians were somber as they left the Elysee Palace, France's White House, after hearing Coty outline the program De Gaulle had laid down Thursday night.

Former Premier Guy Mollet, whose Socialists hold the answer to whether the National Assembly will accept De Gaulle, stayed longer than the leaders of other political parties.

The Socialists fear De Gaulle as a potential dictator. Their 97 votes in the National Assembly can send him to the premiership. While they have been opposing De Gaulle steadfastly at an almost continuous party caucus, there were reports they were weakening.

Hanging over the meetings and over all France was the grim reminder from the French insurgents in Algeria that the army there is ready to move if De Gaulle's road to power is blocked.

Admiration for Texan

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev expressed admiration for Van Cliburn today and said the Texas pianist and the Philadelphia orchestra have drawn the United States and the Soviet Union closer together.

Robert W. Dowling, chairman of the American National Theater and Academy, said Khrushchev had told him Cliburn is "a very warm, friendly young man who absolutely captivated the Soviet people."

Thundershowers were reported at St. Joseph, Kansas City and Kirksville. Gusts of wind as high as 35 miles an hour were reported with the storms.

In the 24 hours ending at 6 p. m. precipitation amounting ranging from a trace to .25 of an inch were reported at Butler, Joplin, Malden, Springfield and West Plains.

SAC Steps Up Procedures In Missile Firing

FORT WORTH (AP)—Strategic Air Command is taking new steps to insure that Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles may be fired instantly upon an attack warning, without long preliminary countdowns and delays that have marred test launchings at Cape Canaveral.

This was reported to the Aviation Writers Assn. at Carswell Air Force Base, a major SAC installation near here, by Maj. Gen. Charles B. Westover, SAC's director of plans, without indications how it will be done.

Westover said SAC was planning to build "protective facilities to increase survivability," and indicated these will be launching sites that are buried or submerged or out of reach of enemy.

He added that the missile force will be "sufficiently large and adequately equipped so that when measured against Soviet surprise attack, its retaliation will insure sufficient destruction of the Soviet bloc to preclude his decision to launch."

Westover said that initially, when there are relatively few operational Atlas missiles and they have not yet reached the required degree of accuracy, they will be used as needed against enemy defenses. In this way they'll help "insure that our other more accurate weapon systems can reach their assigned targets." Presumably he referred to weapons such as B52 bombers.

No One Injured In Submarine Sinking

HONOLULU (AP)—The submarine Stickleback sank Thursday night off Oahu Island 5½ hours after being rammed by the destroyer escort Silverstein during antisubmarine exercises. No one was injured.

The Stickleback was submerged when the collision occurred but immediately surfaced and tied up alongside the Silverstein while her crew of 74 men and eight officers escaped, the Navy said.

Despite intensive salvage efforts the submarine flooded and sank in 1,500 fathoms 19 miles southwest of the channel entrance to Pearl Harbor.

The Silverstein reported a damaged bow but said she did not need assistance.

A board of investigation will be ordered to determine the cause of the collision, the Navy said.

Capone Associate Guilty in Tax Trial

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul (The Waiter) Ricca, who took over as one of the leaders of the old Capone crime syndicate when Scarface Al went to prison, was convicted Thursday of evading nearly $100,000 in income taxes.

The 60-year-old ex-convict may be sent to prison as long as 15 years and fined $30,000 on the income tax evasion verdict. A jury in U. S. District Court deliberated more than 16 hours before returning its verdict.

Ricca served four years in federal prison when he and other leading Chicago hoodlums were convicted in the million-dollar labor extortion of the Hollywood movie industry. He was paroled in 1947.

The government accused him of holding back taxes in 1948, 1949 and 1950. The government said the money came from syndicate operations Ricca then controlled.

Ricca's attorneys said his lavish spending in 1948-1950 came from $300,000 he had hidden in the attic of his suburban River Forest home.

Ricca, tight lipped at the jury's verdict, was released pending arguments June 12 on a motion for a new trial.

All Goes Wrong

The Ladies Have a Rough Day in England Thursday

LONDON (AP)—It was ladies' world lost her grip on her fiancé.

First, the case of the perfidious pants. They belonged to Mrs. Maude King of suburban West Ham. She was walking down the street when the elastic snapped.

As the pants began their slow but certain slither into public view, comely Mrs. King looked frantically about for cover. Spying what she thought was a vacant bungalow, she popped in through a window to make emergency repairs. At this point the front door opened and in walked the bungalow's owner, Frederick Dowie. He called the police.

Girl Killed by Auto Driven by Her Mother

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Graduation and marriage awaited Dianne Montgomery as she drove to Byrd High School Thursday. A few hours later she was dead of injuries suffered when her car collided with an automobile driven by her mother.

State police said the cars were traveling about 50 miles an hour when they collided. Mrs. L. E. Montgomery, Dianne's mother, said she saw her daughter's car approaching in the wrong lane but she thought the girl was teasing her and would move back to her proper lane.

The 18-year-old girl was driving a car owned by her fiancé Jerry Monroe. They had planned to marry in the near future.

Mrs. Montgomery suffered lacerations and was placed under observation at a hospital. Both automobiles were badly damaged. State police said skid marks showed Mrs. Montgomery applied her brakes 15 feet from the point of impact.

Solid Stream Of Devotion

This is a day set aside to think once again of Americans in the past who loved their country enough to pay out their lives in forfeit.

The sad, sweet strains of "Taps" drift on the breezes of cemeteries for them. Flowery wreaths drift on rippled water in their memory.

These ceremonies can bring us to reality in facing our responsibilities as citizens of this amazing republic.

Foreign visitors, getting their impressions of us from periods of from a few hours to a few weeks spent in the larger cities, frequently go home complaining about our artificiality.

Looking at the surface, it is easy to see where they get their idea.

Our books, our movie and other advertisements could lead them to think that our scarlet lives are merry trips down the sexy paths to Hades.

Analyzing our TV fare would lead inevitably to these conclusions: That we are murder-mad. That we worship at the feet of mythical western gunmen who shoot first and mouth twisted moralisms afterward. That in our lives of grasping, grasping we find our greatest dreams realized in handouts of wealth and merchandise paid for only by answering a few questions.

They read the news. Every subdivision of our national structure appears to groan at the very mention of sacrifice. Income tax day is depicted as a day of mourning. Everyone asks special considerations. Each stratum of citizenry when in trouble, seems to throw up its hands and plead for succor.

Our foreign visitors, looking out over this surface, may get these impressions. But we who know the waters under the surface so well could tell them a different story. It would describe lives of quiet sobriety and parents whose existences pivot about their children and each other. The symbols that float on the surface may be only an indication of the straight and narrow channels which the lives of most Americans follow.

And deep below the surface we know there is a solid stream of devotion to duty and a willingness to shoulder even the most horrid of responsibilities—should the need occur.

Those who pause on Memorial Day for this annual glance backward can shrug off rock and roll and the other curious manifestations which those who criticize us make so much of.

This is still a nation made up largely of stalwart men and heroic women. We need only to look at the crosses in the cemeteries today and count those of the thousands who gave their lives only yesterday, during World War II and the Korean conflict.

Memorial Day is a good day to think about this and we hope that some who think us "decadent" get the message, too.

Honor New 'Unknown Soldiers' - - -

Memorial Day this year has special significance for all the servicemen who fought in our last two conflicts—World War II and the Korean War. On this day Arlington National Cemetery receives the bodies of two Unknown Soldiers, representing all the dead of those wars. In special crypts, at either side of the present Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, they will lie in honored companionship with the anonymous hero of World War I. Sketched above is the new look the Plaza will have with the addition of the two granite-capped crypts for the heroes of 1941-45 and of 1950-53. Over 300 tons of granite went into the construction of the new crypts, whose tops set flush with the ground.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

De Gaulle May Become Nasser of West

Over two months ago, March 10, Drew Pearson warned his readers: "The French military are seriously out of hand and France faces its most serious political crisis since the days of Napoleon. . . . Even if Premier Gaillard ordered the French army to evacuate Tunisia it's doubtful if he could get the generals to obey. The French military is so completely out of hand that foreign diplomats in Paris, including the Russian ambassador, frequently consult not the premier but General De Gaulle—the only man who seems to have any control over the military. . . . 'If Premier Gaillard makes concessions in Tunisia,' Pearson reported, 'it may be the signal for his generals to revolt and install a right-wing dictatorship'."

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—From information this reporter obtained while in Paris and since then by trans-Atlantic telephone, it appears that the United States has two serious problems to worry about in strife-torn France. They are:

1. De Gaulle will probably lean toward Russia, may become the "Nasser of the West" and play the United States off against the Soviet.

2. If De Gaulle is not enough or anti-American enough, he may be replaced by the group of military men who are the real power in France and who are using him as a front.

The chief thing to remember about France today is that the French army is determined to stage a comeback. It is determined to wipe out the shame of its past defeats. This is especially true of Gen. Jacques Massu, the tough paratrooper who is the real power behind De Gaulle and the man who may well take his place should the generals find De Gaulle too weak.

Aftermath of Suez

Massu is the man who commanded French paratroopers during the landing at Suez. His men were on the verge of a great victory which would have retrieved the sting of losing Indo-China, Morocco, Syria, and Lebanon, and defeat at the hands of the Nazis in 1940.

Then suddenly President Eisenhower stepped in and stopped the French army on the verge of its comeback. This is something General Massu is not forgotten and will not forget. He is not anti-American, but neither is he pro-American. He is definitely anti-Eisenhower.

Other French army leaders in many cases are anti-American. You have to remember that the United States clashed seriously with French forces during the landing in North Africa. One unit of the French Foreign Legion was caught in a ravine near Oran and completely wiped out by American forces. Again, the French wiped out around 900 American troops aboard two ships when they tried to land at Oran.

The troops were aboard two British vessels, though flying the American flag in the belief that the French would not fire on Americans.

Think It Through

ABDICATION OF CONGRESS — Neighbor, that's the end of your freedom. Whoever reads the Constitution will see that it puts the Government in the hands of Congress, subject to limitations, as the Constitution protects States Rights and the people's liberties—even from Congress.

Now, facing our greatest national peril, we find one of our ablest and most conscientious Senators, McClellan of Arkansas, confessing the impotence of Congress to control the budget, and exposing the power of the Executive bureaucracy to perpetuate their jobs.

Here's an eye opener! During the last 20 years, Federal bureaucracy has advanced five times faster than the population of our country, and is now the biggest and most powerful lobby in Washington. That should curl your hair! Sure, it not only influences Congressional legislation, but it goes so far as to make the laws—in the shade of the night, from Washington—for ratification by Congress.

Our President inherited a mess, some of which was beyond repair, but he could have done more.

I give credit when due, but reserve my right for contrary thinking when necessary. "Better be a thorn in the side of thy friend than be his echo."

Fortunately, not all Senators and Congressmen subscribe to the self-serving political formula which says that "the way to get along is to go along" with the party or with the President. That, my dear neighbor, is NOT the way to get along.

An American landing force of about 1,000 were below decks, the hatches fastened.

The ships broke through the boom guarding the harbor at Oran. Then French shore batteries opened fire. The ships sank. Most of the American troops were drowned.

These are some of the unhappy incidents that come back to plague American-French relations with the French army and its wartime leader in power.

De Gaulle Is Pro-Russian

General De Gaulle, who was kept almost a prisoner in London prior to the North African landing, was not informed in advance that the Allies would land. Prime Minister Churchill, who hated him, figured that Frenchmen around him might leak the information. So, when De Gaulle read the news in British papers he was furious. It did not make our relations with him any easier.

De Gaulle at that time leaned toward Russia. Churchill even accused him of being pro-Russian. Last winter when De Gaulle began to assume a strong backstage role in French politics, the Russian ambassador began calling on him. It's expected that De Gaulle might now play the United States off against Russia in order to strengthen the position of France. De Gaulle is first, last, and foremost for France.

Though French Communists are bitter against De Gaulle, it's believed the Kremlin would be eager to do some political jockeying with him. Already there are signs from inside the Kremlin that the Soviet government is keeping a careful eye on France. One of them is the conciliatory birthday message which Khrushchev has just sent Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia. Tito rates high with the French socialists, which the Kremlin would like to swing further to the left to line up with the Communists.

Another fact to remember about De Gaulle is that very few of the French really know who he stands for. All they know is that France needs a strong man to pull the nation together. Actually De Gaulle is not too strong. He is sincere, stubborn, old, and not at all brilliant. Many consider him stupid. But on the question of Algeria he is moderate and would probably favor a reasonably early independence.

If he is too moderate, the army clique which is using him as a front would undoubtedly move in and take over.

Out of 949 cases of vituperative White House letters investigated by the Secret Service in 1957, 66 persons were arrested for threatening the President. Most common offender is a "psychotic personality" who has a fancied grievance against the presidency rather than the man holding the office. A recent series of anonymous letters to President Eisenhower came from a mental patient who had written the same type of threatening notes to President Hoover in 1929. . . . Dictator Nasser has sent secret notes to leaders in Algeria, Morocco and Tunisia inviting them to throw off French domination and join the Egyptian-Syrian bloc. . . . Czechoslovakia and Poland are trying to tempt the Moroccan government with generous offers of economic aid. The Czechs and Poles have sounded out Moroccan officials privately about accepting Communist cash to build up their countries. However, the Moroccan government is still too loyal to the West to sell out.

Meanwhile the big question is: What will become of the NATO alliance which President Eisenhower once commanded and which was established with such great diplomatic effort and so great expenditure of American money? The chances are De Gaulle and the French military will play for high stakes, and will remain in NATO if France becomes the dominant NATO power. Otherwise they will make a deal with Russia.

CHICAGO DAILY NEWS: Reno Harvest. For embezzling $29,000 from a California bank, Ernest J. Cambra, 24, was sentenced in federal court here to serve one year and one day in prison.

Federal agents testified that Cambra had dropped most of the money on the dice tables at Reno during a 7-month period when he worked in the bank.

Thus the Reno gamblers reap a neat harvest and Cambra pays off his debt to society at the rate of $29,000 a year, plus room and board. Anyone arguing that crime does not pay had better overlook this case when he cites his supporting precedents, although the ultimate payee in this case was the Reno gambling fraternity, rather than Mr. Cambra.

What became of the old-fashioned idea that if you got an employee and an employer around a bargaining table, everything would work out fine?

The World Today

Thanks Founding Fathers for Our Stabilized Government

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) —Tribute can be paid this Memorial Day—when the French are in crisis—to the American Founding Fathers for their wisdom in establishing this kind of government.

Here is a brief rundown — there's no room for a lot of details — on why there's stability in the American and British governmental systems but so little in France, which has had 25 governments since World War II.

The big curse of the French system is the number of political parties. In the United States and Britain there are only two major political parties; here the Democrats and Republicans; in Britain the Conservatives and Laborites.

In the French Assembly the 396 seats are divided among at least 12 major political groups — ranging from far left to far right—and a number of splinter factions.

The French have wanted this broad representation for varied viewpoints to prevent one man, or one party, from dominating. This stems from their historical recollection of, and their distaste for, dictatorships.

France's Future Obscure

'Agonizing Reappraisal' May Be Ultimate U.S. Move

By JOSEPH A. DEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C. — No matter which way events in France turn, the United States will be the loser.

The NATO alliance is basic to American foreign policy. And France is the keystone of NATO. Viscount Montgomery of Alamein was once asked if Europe could be defended without France. "It can't be done," Monty snapped. "Look at the map." And the "agonizing reappraisal" of our foreign policy which Secretary of State Dulles once threatened was intended to force France into NATO.

The technology of war has advanced considerably since Monty made his estimate and Dulles his threat. The rebellion in Algeria has forced the French to commit divisions earmarked for NATO to the African theater. But it's still true that without France, NATO becomes meaningless.

A moment's reflection will show why this is so. It is quite beyond the power of Pflimlin's government to achieve total victory in its contest with the conservative-military bloc. The most that Pflimlin can hope for is half a loaf — a compromise in which both sides inch back. But any compromise will be a defeat for the legitimate government and a victory for the insurgents.

An uneasy truce between these forces would merely defer the reckoning. Instability would mark the French government in that event, as it does now. American policy would be hamstrung, accordingly.

But what if the insurgents succeed, and Gen. De Gaulle comes to power? American policy would still be in the air. For no one knows for sure what tack De Gaulle would take.

He probably would insist on strengthening executive authority in France, which might work to the advantage of the country. But his record, his mystic nationalism, suggests that he would chart an independent course for France. He plays his cards next to his vest, but

The Communists have the greatest number of Assembly seats: 142 out of the 596 total. Next most powerful are the Socialists, with 97, and so on down to nine members not connected with any party.

When there is a major issue the Premier — or for that matter anyone in the Assembly — can call for a vote of confidence in the Premier and the group around him running the country at the moment.

If a premier fails in the vote of confidence, The President (merely a figurehead in France) must find someone else who can get enough support from the various factions to form a new government.

That support, as the history of these past 13 years shows, has never lasted long. The result has been instability that has brought the republic tottering to the edge of chaos.

The British don't have that kind of trouble. In the House of Commons the two big parties — Conservatives and Laborites — dominate the House of Commons. They hold almost all the seats between them, with the Conservatives in a majority.

There a party is chosen to run the government for five years. The leader of the party becomes prime minister. If he faces a major issue where he loses a vote of confidence, or thinks there's doubt he has such confidence, he can ask the Queen to dissolve Parliament and order new elections.

In this country, because of the provisions written into the Constitution, there is more stability than under the British system although it may be argued the American system may not be so responsive to public feeling as the British.

Here a president and vice president are elected for four-year terms, to run the government. They can't be ousted in that period.

The Mature Parent

Let Child Change His Mind; That's How He Makes It Up

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

After lunch Ken's mother opened a new jar of lollipops and offered him his choice. He picked a red one. Then, as his mother recapped the jar, he changed his mind and demanded another choice.

His mother did not say, "No. You chose the red lollipop and must learn to take the consequences of your decisions."

Instead she reopened the jar, handed it to her 5-year-old and said, "Choose again, Ken. You don't have to keep a lollipop you don't want."

It took less than a minute for Ken to make a final and satisfied decision on the original red lollipop.

He trusted his decision the second time because he'd lost fear of restriction by its consequences. With the freedom to change his mind, he was able to make it up. Permitted to alter his decision, he was released from fear of making the wrong one—and could move on his real, original wish for the cherry-flavored candy.

If we want children who can learn to trust their decisions, it is unwise to require them to stick to decisions too soon.

To be able to make decisions without anxiety, we must trust our power to stand up to the results of bad ones instead of suffering helplessly under them. It takes much time to accumulate this self-trust.

If we make premature demands that Ken accept the disappointments involved in decisions he wishes he hadn't made, he may learn to avoid disappointments by resisting any decision at all.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D. D.

Anyone who feels he is self-sufficient ought to think about the number of people involved in serving him in a single day.

A whole book would be required to outline the work of the different persons who contributed to one day of our normal living.

The alarm clock which wakens us required a designer, several draftsmen, a number of miners of metals, scores of craftsmen, executives, clerks, salesmen, advertising men, packers, delivery men and dozens of other folk who were indirectly related to the production and marketing of the ringing clock.

Even your orange juice or your grapefruit at breakfast required scores of people in order to make it available this morning.

And behind all of the people and things involved was a Creator of man and living things and of material elements.

God is in the picture not only as the Creator but also as the Motivator for activity and the maintenance of the order needed for existence.

We cannot live without others and without God. Let us recognize this dependence and contribute our share in the process of our appreciation of what God and people do for us.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

C. E. Gourette, a trucker with a road crew working west of Sedalia on Highway 50, suffered fractures of both ankles when he was caught under a load of cement falling from a truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mitchell and daughter, Topeka, Kan., were here as guests of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Mitchell.

L. C. Crippen purchased the business of the Classy Cleaners on West Main formerly conducted by Felix Sullivan.

Repaving of Ohio Avenue was made complete by replacing the brick in the short block between Main and the Missouri Pacific crossing and removing the street car rails that had been there many years.

FORTY YEARS AGO

G. W. Renegar, telegrapher in the Missouri Pacific yards, was called to Sheffield, Ala., due illness of a relative.

Major S. W. James, in attendance at the grand lodge meeting of the Knights of Pythias in St. Louis, wired the Chamber of Commerce Sedalia had been selected for the 1919 convention.

J. F. McGrath, general chairman of the I. B. of B. and H., of the Missouri Pacific, left for Washington, D.C., to meet high officials and attend a conference meeting relative to wage adjustments.

The oration of the day in Memorial services sponsored by the G.A.R., at Crown Hill Cemetery was delivered by the Rev. H. E. Martin, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church.

Tennessee Ernie Turns Down Lots of Work; Lamas Turns Down the Latin Lover Role

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Tennessee Ernie Ford is in the happy position of turning down more work than he accepts.

As an example, he just crossed out most of a five-week, firm-up summer fair schedule that had been planned for him. He's turned down guest appearances by the bushel and all sorts of other high-priced goodies.

His reasons? There are two. He believes in not over-exposing himself and he wants to spend some time with his family.

"I've never yet seen a coffin with a pocket in it," he says, in typical Fordian style. "Once my kids start calling me Tennessee Ernie instead of Daddy, I'll have failed. I'm not waiting for that to happen."

So, as soon as summer comes, he generally heads for what he calls "the tall and uncut." This summer, tall and uncut means Hawaii.

Even during his TV season, he takes things easy. There's golf on his schedule, regular as clockwork, three times a week. He even makes a point of playing 18 holes on the day he does his show.

Ford has come a long way in a relatively brief time. He's not an old-timer in the business. He's only been singing since 1950; before that he was a radio announcer, and began singing when he had a disc jockey show.

"Then," he says, "I was a complete hillbilly. I wore the boots and the hat and all that. I decided to branch out, but it had to be done gradually. I wanted to get new people to watch me—but not lose the old ones. They offend easy."

So he took off the boots and hat first, then started singing other songs and more sophisticated arrangements. It's paid off, of course.

When Yvonne Furneaux was dropped from the cast of the DuPont version of "Wuthering Heights" in favor of Rosemary Harris, one interesting fact was overlooked. It was Miss Harris who originally recommended Miss Furneaux to the DuPont producers for the part.

They'd wanted Miss Harris originally, but she was down for "Dial M For Murder," and there was a two-day overlap in rehearsal schedules. So Rosemary suggested her old friend, Yvonne. And she was hired. When she didn't pan

TENNESSEE ERNIE: Coffins don't have pockets.

Fernando Lamas

Rosemary Harris

out, Miss Harris stepped in and she was just great.

Bernard Leslie is the film editor as many of CBS-TV's The Twentieth Century Shows. The one that he was most proud of was "Victory Over Polio." Leslie was, himself, a polio victim—42 years ago.

There's a quiet crusade going on, and it seems to be bearing fruit. It's Fernando Lamas' battle to dump the Latin lover role he's been stuck with for so long.

"And any success I'm having," says the fair-haired, debonair Argentine, "is due all to television."

Once, on Edward R. Murrow's Person to Person, he expounded his views on why he didn't want to be a Latin lover for the rest of his days. And, apparently, lots of people were watching. Since then he's done the Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz Show (the Sun Valley one, where he showed he could do slapstick comedy) and, on June 5, he'll be a rugged outdoorsman on Climax. It's a beginning.

"I've spent 23 years acting," he says. "So I object to one kind of part. I'm through. No more, I've gone through suspension from the movie companies and all that, but I'm determined. No more Latin lovers. And you know something interesting—there is no such thing as a Latin lover."

Lamas, who may not believe in Latin lovers but has a typical Latin temperament, is happily married to Arlene Dahl, one of the real beauties of the age.

"She's even-tempered," he says. "I'm volatile. I yell—even when I'm just discussing acting, I yell. We're out together and having a pleasant conversation and she'll say to me, 'Smile — people will think we're fighting.'"

David Niven tells of a new gimmick he and his associates on the Alcoa-Goodyear Theater are using. Ordinarily, the day's shooting is viewed in a regular movie screening room—"the rushes," they're called.

But Niven & Co., realizing that there's a difference between a movie screen and a home TV set, view their rushes on a TV-sized screen. That way, they see them the way they'll look at home.

Memorial Day Thought

When hearts are heavy with revived memories of those whom we love, now departed—When we pause to wonder how they lived such noble lives and implanted with us ideals that evil cannot destroy—When we remember what a scanty amount of the world's material things required for their happiness . . .

They were the finest of folks, and we consider it a privilege to remember them with this prayer:

"God grant me
The serenity to accept the things I cannot change,
The courage to change the things I can,
And the wisdom to know the difference."

If those deceased whom we love could advise us, surely they would say: "Seek neither gold nor fame, but serenity, courage and wisdom."

Thomas Has Longest Run

NEW YORK (AP)—A hardy voyageur has just stumbled out of the archival jungle of the Lowell Thomas office with word that by June 3 the CBS radio reporter will have made his 15,000th broadcast.

While programs come and go, die and are revived, switch times and change their formats, Lowell Thomas and the News has had the longest continuous run of any news program in radio and is still going strong. Its position in the broadcast schedule, never has varied since June 1932.

It's safe to say that Thomas has been heard more frequently by more Americans in the last three decades than any other man. He still makes two broadcasts a night his second being beamed to the West Coast. Besides his role on radio he has been widely heard as a lecturer and as narrator for Cinerama, dozens of short films and for 17 years as the voice of Fox Movietone news.

It's equally safe to say that he has broadcast from more unusual and obscure places than any commentator: from a plane circling the Empire State Building, in the first broadcast from a helicopter, a bobsled, a—you name it. In the course of these broadcasts Thomas estimates he has traveled five million miles by every conceivable means of transportation.

Thomas was well established as a writer and lecturer when he first faced a microphone in 1930 as the replacement of Floyd Gibbons, last but not least of the "I was there, myself, in person" type of foreign correspondent.

News broadcasting in 1930 was largely unexplored territory. Gibbons had been the only commentator on the air and there were widely divergent notions as to just how it should be done.

Thomas's first broadcast followed a nine-hour "how it should be done" session in which the participants included such persons as William S. Paley, now chairman of the board of CBS, a then obscure manuscript reader named Ogden Nash, and a certain Dale Carnegie. Thomas then went on the air and broadcast in his own way—the way he's been doing it ever since from just about everywhere, including Lhasa, the forbidden city of Tibet.

Asked for a list of the most memorable broadcasts during his years in radio, he names none of his own. Rather, he cites these:

Churchill's famous "Blood, Sweat and Tears" speech; President Roosevelt's Declaration of War message to Congress; Mac Arthur's "I Shall Return" speech; Ed Murrow's "Orchestrated Hell" broadcast on the bombing of Berlin; Charles Collingwood's description of the Nazi surrender; President Eisenhower's first acceptance speech in Chicago; Alben Barkley's last speech before his death; Dr. Jonas Salk's radio announcement of his polio vaccine; Doug Edwards' description of the sinking of the Andrea Doria; Moscow radio's announcement of the first earth satellite.

Quiz MC Barry Turns to Comedy

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Jack Barry is branching out. The co-creator and MC of the current top quiz show, Twenty-One, isn't satisfied to rest on his gold-inlaid laurels. He's turning himself into a comedian.

"This isn't the end of my dreams," he said. "Sure, I love being a top MC on a top show, but a man has to keep moving, doesn't he?"

Barry tried to light his pipe—a new acquisition—and exhausted a few matches in the futile cause.

"The idea is to branch out, develop," he said. "Who knows how long this will last? I think it can go on at least another year—maybe longer. Twenty-One is more than a quiz show, it seems to have a psychological something the others lack. So perhaps it'll go on for years. But perhaps not."

In case it doesn't—and even if it does, just for variety's sake—Barry has been quietly readying another side of himself.

For the past six months, he's been taking dancing lessons with Nelle Fisher, who used to be on the Sid Caesar Show.

"I'm finally getting it," he said. "It's hard for a man of 40, who never danced a step in his life. At the beginning, it was murder—my muscles were always sore. I'm studying soft shoe and tap, and I'm just getting the feel of it."

And he's studying singing. And brushing up on his piano—"I've played very bad jazz piano for years"—and working on comedy routines. He's had some top comedy writers turning out material for him, material which he's been testing and smoothing during appearances at benefits in the last few months.

"I do every benefit I'm asked to do," he says. "Everything—even the Society for Wounded Pedestrians."

He thinks he has a good sense of humor, a good delivery and he's sure of his sense of timing. All that remains is experience and the ability to size up an audience.

"I've already found out," he said, "that they won't accept insult comedy from me. I guess it's because of the impression I give on Twenty-One, but if I try some gags insulting somebody or something, they freeze up. And nothing off color. It has to be nice, bright, clean humor. That's all right with me."

He's had some good nights, some bad ones, in his benefit appearances. But the general feeling has been encouraging, so encouraging that he's even now preparing a night club act. He hopes to break it in in Las Vegas this summer. He gets four weeks off Twenty-One and will use that time for his professional debut as a singing-dancing-piano-playing-comedian.

JACK BARRY: A man has to keep moving, doesn't he?

Barry worked on his pipe some more, sucking hollow-cheeked as he tried to get the device to smoke. He looked a little dejected as he put it down.

"I've also told my agents," he said, "that I'm available for legitimate stage work in the fall. Twenty-One will move to a new day and time—Thursdays from 8 to 8:30—so I'll be able to do a Broadway play. No heavy dramatics, of course, but I could MC a revue or do a light comedy part."

For Barry, all this would be very new. He's not an old-timer in show business. In fact, he was in the handkerchief business, "but I somehow knew I'd get into show business someday, although not as a quiz show MC."

Now he and his partner, Dan Enright, have Twenty-One and Tic Tac Dough going strong. They've had previous successes with such shows as Juvenile Jury, Winky Dink and Life Begins At 80, and are constantly working on new shows.

The two also own a Miami, Fla., radio station and "a substantial percentage" of a concern that makes odors for newspaper advertisements, plus some investments in various foreign businesses.

So Barry's ambition to make himself into a comedian has nothing to do with financial need.

As he says, "a man has to keep moving, doesn't he?"

Gretchen Has Received TV Role Finally

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The home screen will be enhanced once a week this summer by a tall, beautiful blonde named Gretchen Wyler when the Bob Crosby Show takes over for Perry Como while he's in seasonal hibernation.

Well known to New York theater audiences as a dancer, comedienne and singer, Miss Wyler, a native of Bartlesville, Okla., is overdue a fuller acquaintance on the part of TV audiences.

She will join Crosby beginning June 14 on NBC-TV to kick away care, belt songs and generally kid around. Crosby, by the way, gave up a CBS contract to do the Saturday evening show. And Como, by the way, won't say where he's slumbering this summer.

Miss Wyler has guested around some on television, but the Bob Crosby Show is her first big break with the nationwide audience of a 13-week program.

You're going to like this girl. Ignoring (if you can) her comeliness and talent, she's a happy, forthright young lady who never worries or grows despondent.

"I suppose I shouldn't admit it," she said, "because it makes me sound idiotic or something, but it's true that I never worry. Maybe it's because I've been steadily employed since I left Oklahoma nine years ago. But more important, I think, is the fact that I'm happily married and have no personal problems."

Her husband is Shepard Coleman, a musical arranger and conductor.

She's been dancing since she was 3. Beginning her career in the ballet corps of the St. Louis Municipal Opera in 1950, she came to New York under contract to dance on the Kate Smith TV show.

Her first audition for the legitimate theater gained her the understudy role to the leading lady in the Broadway production of "Where's Charley?" There, at the suggestion of star Ray Bolger, she discarded her family name of Wienecke in favor of Wyler.

TV Dramas Made Into New Novel

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous novels have been made into television dramas, but now—for the first time—there comes the case of two popular TV dramas growing into a popular novel.

Viewers surely remember two Playhouse 90 (CBS-TV) dramas by Elick Moll concerning a warm-hearted New York dress manufacturer, Morris Seidman: "Seidman and Son, starring Eddie Canot, in October 1956, and "The Gentleman from Seventh Avenue" starring Walter Slezak, last January.

Now, with the publication of Moll's "Seidman and Son" by Putnam, it appears the Seidmans, father and son, will be as popular with readers as with TV-viewers. The novel is a current selection of the Book-of-the-Month-Club, has been purchased by the Reader's Digest Book Club, and its publisher is inundated with orders. Already yet, as Seidman would say, Broadway producers want Moll to make a play of it.

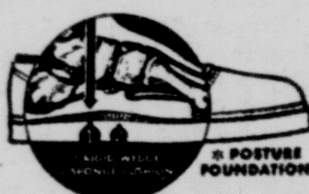

Moll is frankly surprised. The credit, he feels, goes to Seidman rather than Moll.

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT
ENDORSES AMAZING NEW HEARING INVENTION

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has now joined other prominent Americans and people from all walks of life in praising a revolutionary new hearing device called "The Listener." "It certainly heralds a new day for the hard of hearing," said Mrs. Roosevelt recently.

Continuing, she added: "If people only knew what a revelation and a joy The LISTENER is, they would not for a moment hesitate to wear one. This is the first hearing aid that exactly fits my needs. I didn't realize a hearing aid could be as good as this."

Mrs. Louise Braxton

Woman Bass Singer Here For Weekend

Mrs. Louise Malone Braxton, Grand Rapids, Mich., said to be the only woman bass singer in America, will appear in Sedalia churches this weekend.

This evening Mrs. Braxton will appear in a concert in the Burns Chapel Free Will Baptist Church at 8 o'clock. On Sunday morning, she will be guest soloist at the morning worship service at the East Sedalia Baptist Church at 10:45 a.m. She will sing "The Stranger of Galilee."

On Sunday evening she will return to the East Sedalia Baptist Church for a concert of sacred music, singing Negro spirituals and Gospel songs. Mrs. Braxton will also sing the famous bass solo, "Asleep in the Deep."

On Thursday morning Mrs. Braxton entertained more than 250 children at the preliminary session of the East Sedalia Baptist Church's Vacation Bible School, singing "Bless This House." "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," the children joining in singing the last song.

This is Mrs. Braxton's fourth visit to Sedalia over the past several years in the course of a 33-year career which has taken her across the country and back many times. Mrs. Braxton says she has dedicated her life to the interest of Christianity and helping the Negro race. She has been instrumental in establishing six Negro schools and improving the schooling and health habits of the Negroes.

Mrs. Braxton is the daughter of a Negro farmer and a French-Indian mother. Her grandfather was a Cherokee Indian chief. She first learned to speak French and later was taught English. She also speaks the Indian dialect, Spanish and Chinese.

Mrs. Braxton attended Tuskegee Institute. Dr. George Washington Carver, who was president of Tuskegee at that time, asked graduating seniors to volunteer to help build Negro schools. Mrs. Braxton was sent as a teacher to a district near Tuskegee where Negro farmers had been trying for 20 years to get enough money to build a school. Aided by Dr. Carver, Mrs. Braxton succeeded in arousing the interest of local businessmen and wealthy white people to sponsor the building of the school.

Later a New York producer offered her $500 a week to sing on Broadway when he learned she could reach low "C," but Mrs. Braxton refused when she learned she would have to sing jazz songs. Throughout her career she has continued to sing religious music.

St. Paul's Church Marks Holy Trinity

St. Paul's Lutheran Church will commemorate the festival of the Holy Trinity next Sunday morning in the 8 and 10:30 worship services. The sermon topic will be, "Important Truths About the Trinity."

Vacation Bible School will begin on Monday. The school will be conducted June 2-13, Mondays through Fridays, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Children between the ages of four and 14 are welcome. This year's course is entitled, "Let's Learn About God." Features of the Bible School are Bible stories, handicraft, songs and games. A staff of 32 teachers will instruct the children.

Tuesday evening, Boy Scout Troop 69 will meet at 7:30, and the Men's Club at 8.

Wednesday, the Young Married Ladies Society will meet at 2 p.m., and the Sunday School teachers at 8 p.m.

WHO RUNS THE CHURCH?

"Why does your church vote on people joining the church? Do you think you should tell them they can or cannot be Christians?" This was the earnest question of a confused woman to a Baptist pastor. "No," kindly replied the pastor, "We are not passing judgment. Whether or not a person is a Christian is a matter between that one person and God. With Baptists church membership comes after one has become a Christian. The voting has nothing to do with his becoming a Christian."

Many people have wondered about voting on members. The answer is not difficult. In any organization somebody decides who will become members. In some churches the minister alone decides, in others the decision is made by some board or council or committee. With Baptists it is a decision of the whole church.

The church votes on applicants for membership because it is independent of other churches. It manages its own affairs through majority decisions, subject, of course, to what it believes to be the will of God. Baptist churches have no bishops or ruling elders or church courts made up of people outside its own membership. No association or convention of Baptist churches with which it may be affiliated has any jurisdiction over its internal affairs. Even the pastor has no authority beyond that of other members. He is one of many, and has only one vote on any matter of business. He can persuade but not dictate. He and the other officers of the church, all chosen by it, lead, not by edict or orders, but by the simple power of influence based on wisdom, character, training, and experience.

Baptists believe that, according to the teachings of the Bible, the members of a church, and they only, are responsible for its government. They are to make their decisions in accordance with the teachings of the New Testament and in the spirit of the Lord Jesus Christ. The fact that their decisions are final compels them to pray for a knowledge of God's will. There is a fellowship of equals, with everyone subject to the law of Christ. The churches likewise are all equals, each free and sovereign under Christ, but co-operative in their common efforts to carry out Christ's Great Commission (Matthew 28:18-20). This co-operation through associations and conventions is what makes them a denomination rather than a church.

A Baptist pastor will gladly confer with you if you wish to learn more about how a Baptist church is organized and administered, and how it co-operates with other Baptist churches in an effective denominational program of united effort.

Anderson's Takes Lead In Babe Ruth

Anderson's Heating and Air Conditioning has jumped into an early lead in the Sedalia Babe Ruth League as a result of scoring two wins during the initial week of play. Other clubs chalking up opening week victories were Brown's Auto and Adco.

Anderson's downed McCown's Auto Salvage in a 19-9 slugfest on Monday in the loop's grand opening and Wednesday night came back to top Western Auto, 9-2, behind the superb four-hit pitching of southpaw Nicky Nichols. Western Auto also dropped a 13-7 decision to the Phillips 66 Oilers.

In the second game on Wednesday night, Adco nudged the Phillips 66 Oilers in a 7-5 thriller as Powers went the distance for the winners and spaced six hits.

Games next Monday night pit Adco against McCown's and Brown's Auto against the Phillips 66. On Wednesday night of next week, Western Auto will tangle with Phillips 66 and Anderson's will shoot for their third consecutive victory against Adco.

Little League Fund Campaign Nets $567.35

The Minors of the Sedalia Little League program are assured of a neat sum of money to help operations for the 1958 program. Thursday the Little Leaguers swarmed over downtown Sedalia in a tag day activity and turned in rewarding results.

Working in four shifts these little fellows, dressed in their baseball caps and past uniforms, "buttor-holed" everybody for a contribution. The total results of the days work brought in a total of $567.35.

The money will be used to help defray the expense of the ground-keeper at Housel Park, the cost of the lights, the paying of regular umpires, caps, baseballs and uniforms. It is a goodly start on the financial problem for the minor league activity.

Of course, the usual contributions are expected at each ball game, no admission is charged, but a contribution is always welcome when the hat is passed.

Officials of Little League were more than appreciative of the contributions made by Sedalia's to these youngsters during their tag day campaign.

Water Show Will Be Held at WAFB Swimming Pool

One of the finest water shows ever staged in Central Missouri will be held at the base's Olympic type pool next Friday.

The world's champion water skiers from "beautiful" Cypress Gardens, Fla., will present a water ski spectacle in a swimming pool for the first time outside of Florida, according to Lt. Col. Harry W. Robb, project officer.

Simon Khoury, men's overall world's champion water skier, Mike Osborn, who came within one foot of tying the world's jumping record of 125 feet, and Nancie Rideout, holder of the women's jumping record, are the Cypress Gardens stars.

Combined with this show will be a water ballet presented by the national champion AAU women's synchronous swimming team from Oakland, Calif. This girls' swimming team will represent the United States at the World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium, in June.

A diving exhibition and comedy acts by former Olympic champion divers will round out the show.

Neal C. Tremble On CMSC Coaching Staff

Neal C. Tremble has been appointed to the Central Missouri State College coaching staff, according to an announcement by Dr. Warren Lovinger, president of the college which followed a meeting of the board of curators.

Tremble will serve as assistant football coach and head track coach with the rank of assistant professor of physical education. Tremble has his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Drake University and has done additional study at Colorado State College.

Tremble's experience includes positions as athletic director at La Junta, Colo., Junior College and at Ft. Scott, Kan., Junior College. He also has been athletic director at Friends University, Wichita, Kan. and at South Dakota State Teachers College. For the past two years he has been an instructor and athletic coach at Northwest Missouri State College at Maryville. Tremble is married and has five children.

Liberty Park Pool Will Open Today

The Liberty Park swimming pool and the facilities of all other parks will be officially opened today for the 1958 season. All playground apparatus has been erected, picnic facilities are ready, and as far as the parks' finances will permit, everything has been done to provide a summer of enjoyable recreation for Sedalia residents.

Because many thousands of people move through the parks during the season, particularly children, the Park Department has certain rules of safety that it asks everyone to observe to assure the safety of all park users. There has not been a major accident in the parks for the past five years and the Park Department has expressed hopes of maintaining this record.

Courteous employees of the Park Department will request drivers to observe the laws against speeding and reckless driving while motoring in the parks. In the event that these requests or warnings are not heeded, Park Department employees also have the power of arrest and they have been instructed to pick-up anyone flagrantly violating the safety laws.

At the two swimming pools, there are certain safety measures that must be observed. Repeated violations of any of the rules will result in the violator being banned from the pool for the remainder of the season. Rowdiness, endangering or annoying other pool patrons, or disobeying instructions of pool personnel are included in the swimming pool regulations and will not be tolerated.

The Park Department has noted that in the past park equipment has suffered a certain amount of vandalism each year. Employees have been instructed to report each instance and anyone defacing or destroying park property will be prosecuted. The park finances are such that they will not permit the replacing of equipment that is willfully destroyed.

Martinez, Akins Ready For Next Friday Bout

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Vince Martinez and Virgil Akins, both reported in top condition after rugged workouts, will try to maintain their fighting edge now for their welterweight championship fight next Friday night.

Each fighter worked six rounds Thursday with sparring mates instructed to go all-out against them. Martinez, of Patterson, N. J., takes a day off today. Eddie Yawitz, manager of Akins, said the St. Louis fighter "looks exceptionally sharp."

Granny Faces Crisis After An Operation

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Granny Hamner, so wrapped up in baseball he once said he knew no other way to earn a living, today is facing another crisis which may hasten the end of his playing career.

The spirited Philadelphia Phillies infielder is resting in a hospital, his left leg in a cast after a two-hour operation Thursday for a torn ligament in his knee.

"Granny will have to be laid up from 12 to 15 weeks," Dr. Thomas F. McFar, Phillies physician, said. "He'll be in a cast four to six weeks and he'll spend the rest of the time getting a complete rest. He should be able to regain mobility in the knee.

"It's a little too early to talk about his playing again."

He said it was probable Hamner, 31, would not play again this season.

The Phillies plan to place Hamner on the disabled list and call another infielder from the minors.

Hamner was injured playing second base in the second inning Los Angeles Dodgers in Connie Mack Stadium. Sliding Charley Neal blocked Hamner while the Richmond, Va., infielder was trying to complete a double play.

Granny, a Phillies regular since 1948, was hitting .301 and leading the team in runs batted in and doubles when he was injured. It appeared he was successfully making a comeback after a painful left shoulder injury drove him to become a pitcher to save his playing career last season. The shoulder prevented him from swinging a bat properly.

Last season, Hamner was asked what he would do if the injury ended his active playing career. He looked shocked at the very idea, shrugged and said, "Maybe I'll drive a truck; I don't know."

Swimming Lessons Schedule Announced

Henry Sutton, chairman of the Water Safety program for Pettis County Chapter, American Red Cross, announces that classes in swimming instruction at Hubbard Swimming Pool will begin Saturday, June 3, and will be held Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. for six weeks. Enrollment for the program closed May 19.

Enrollment for the swimming classes at Liberty Park Pool closes June 2. Classes will be conducted Tuesday, Thursday and Friday mornings as follows: 8:30 to 9:30 for youngsters 11 years old and over; 9:30 to 10:30 for those nine and ten years old and 10:30 to 11:30 for eight-year-old or those who have completed the second grade at school.

There is no charge for the Red Cross swimming instructions, but there will be a pool fee of 75 cents for the six weeks period at Hubbard Pool, and a pool fee of 15 cents for each session at Liberty Park unless the swimmer has a season ticket.

Valley AAU Track Draws College Stars

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—The Missouri Valley AAU track meet Saturday night will draw a flock of college stars from Missouri and Kansas and a pair of outstanding high school milers.

The junior mile event will match Archie San Romani of Wichita, the Kansas Class AA champion (4:20.1), and Bill Dotson, Class A champion (4:20.8) from Concordia, Kan.

The University of Kansas, Big Eight champions, will be represented by 18 men, three of them defending champions in the Valley AAU.

Missouri University and Kansas State College will have large squads, while 12 small colleges in the two states have entries.

The meet will be at the Shawnee-Mission High School field.

National League May Add Two More Games

CHICAGO (AP)—Owner Philip K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs says he wouldn't be surprised if the National League expanded from 8 to 10 teams for next season.

The National League doesn't need New York, Wrigley said Thursday night in discussing a report of a move toward a return of the nation's biggest city to the league.

"New York had three teams and didn't seem to be excited about baseball," Wrigley said. "Now they're blasting the Dodgers for going out to Los Angeles."

Wrigley based his hunch that the league might expand next season on the fact "we have a very impetuous group."

"I've always been in favor of maximum of 10 teams. But it may expand. We have amended the constitution so that we may have a maximum of 10 teams. But it may be difficult putting it over, because unanimous vote of the eight clubs is necessary.

"I always voted for change or expansion. This country is growing and the heaviest growth is on the West Coast. It was ridiculous we waited so long to go out there."

The Cub owner said he hasn't any set idea on the two cities which will attain major league status.

NY Bid for League Team Still in Doubt

NEW YORK (AP)—The latest "progress" report on New York's bid to lure a National League team to the big town indicated no progress. The city's still willing to build a stadium, but still has received little encouragement from the NL.

Mayor Wagner, after meeting with his baseball committee, said Thursday a $2,000-seat stadium, costing about 12 million dollars, could be built and leased to a club on reasonable terms. He added there is no hope of a franchise transfer to New York next year and the next step still "is up to the National League."

Big Memorial Race Counted By Seconds

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—They'll chase each other for 500 miles in the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today, but in the end victory is by only a matter of seconds.

Whether the winner is Jimmy Bryan, Jim Rathmann, Pat O'Connor, Ed Elisian, Paul Russo—or any of the heavy-footed 33-driver field—he'll come whizzing in for the checkered flag with the pack on his back.

Sam Hanks, last year's champion who now is the Speedway's director of racing, won by 21 seconds over Rathmann. The closest 500 finish in history was the 2.16-second margin by Wilbur Shaw over Ralph Hepburn in 1937.

That's why the five-man pit crews work with such desperate speed when their racers come slithering into the pits.

The driver who hopes to take the winner's swag of more than $100,000 must avoid more than three pit stops and his crew had better not use much longer than 35 or 40 seconds for tire changing and refueling.

Hanks last year made three pit stops, two of 43 seconds and a last one of 34. Rathmann also stopped three times, for 33, 32 and 31 seconds.

Maybe, if you have a nice, new pleasure car which you push along the highway at a snappy gait, you wonder what's so hot about tooling a stream-lined racer for only 500 miles.

Experts at the Indianapolis Speedway calculate that the 500-mile stint around this 2½-mile brick and asphalt oval is the equivalent of a 50,000-mile pleasure car trip. In terms of car wear and tear, a Speedway mile is estimated to be the same as 100 miles of highway travel.

Bryant Can't Believe Bama Talent So Bad, But Facts Are Facts

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. — (NEA)—(Bear Bryant) describes the Alabama squad he inherited as hard to believe.

"If you told me," Coach Bryant growls, "that there could be 50 college football players with flat feet, narrow shoulders, wide bottoms and big midsections all at the same school, I wouldn't have believed it. I've got to go with this team, too. I came to Alabama too late to recruit."

Bryant, however, is known for fast starts at the new schools he migrates to and his confidence isn't shaken.

Post Office Offers Free Packing Book

Americans lose an endless array of articles because of careless packaging or improper addressing of parcel post, despite emphasis by the Postal Service in recent years on the promotion of good mailing practices, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield noted today.

Reports from major post offices of the country show that an average large city—for example, Columbus, Ohio, or Washington, D.C.—must handle about a thousand lost articles each month that come loose from improperly packaged parcel post.

Many other items become lost because of grossly inadequate or improper addressing and failure to give legible return addresses, or any return address at all.

The value of individual items lost may range from a few pennies to hundreds of dollars.

The Washington City Post Office, typical of many in large cities, reports articles found loose or lost through improper addressing include such items as men's watches, women's ear rings, medicines and vitamin pills, clothing, smoked meats, stationery—and in fact, almost anything that can be sent through the mails.

Washington postal officials note, for example, that many lost items recently have been garden supplies, such as hoses, spades, seeds and so forth. Persons looking for garden bargains bought much of this material at a recent parcel post auction at the Washington office.

In a small percentage of cases, postal employees are able to find a clue that permits them to make delivery of some "lost" items, particularly where the difficulty arises from illegible addresses on the outer cover of the parcel. For example, there may be a name and address in the parcel which will aid in making delivery.

However, where all attempts at making identification of the addressee or sender fail, the lost items are still held at the local post office for 60 days, during which they may be reclaimed.

The Post Office Department offers a free pamphlet on good packaging and wrapping practices. This simple, well illustrated 8-page publication is available free at post offices.

It is P.O.D. Publication No. 2, and is entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing." It offers an excellent guide on how to avoid the most common causes of "dead" parcels—poor packaging and improper addressing.

Infield Tips

Shortstop Must Stay Alert, Know Sign On Every Pitch

By GIL McDOUGALD
AP Newsfeatures

I'd rather play shortstop than any other infield position because I can see the pitch coming. I'm in on every pitch. By that I mean I can see the catcher's signals to the pitcher. That gives me a pretty good idea of where the batter will hit the ball.

Shortstop is a challenging position but it's a lot of fun. I get quite a kick out of setting up the double play. This play helps make a pitcher a winner.

Always try to get the lead runner but make sure of one out. With two out the shortstop's play usually is first base because it takes the batter longer to get there than it takes the runner, with his lead, to get to second. But if the play is easier to make at second, that's the play.

When the shortstop is the middle man in a double play situation and the throw is coming from the direction of second base, the shortstop should try to get into position for the throw and at the same time get ready to make his relay to first base. This requires plenty of practice. It's one part of practice that is fun. Try it, and before you know it the relay becomes second nature. You'll find yourself kicking or crossing the bag and making the throw in one motion. As to the runner, you can see him coming right at you in a game so be ready to move away from his spikes.

The shortstop also alerts the third baseman to certain pitches, like the change up. This is a pitch that a pull hitter generally hits down the third base line because he's well out in front of the ball.

The shortstop also sets up the defense by telling the second baseman who will take the throw ("you" or "me") when there's a runner on first base likely to steal. If you think the batter is apt to hit the ball toward short on the hit and run play you've got to alert the second baseman to cover second. Then if the batter swings and misses, the second baseman takes the catcher's throw. The Yankees have made many double plays on this two strike situation.

The shortstop also goes out for more relays. On these plays the shortstop lines himself up between the outfielder getting the ball and the base where the throw might be made.

For instance, with a man on first and the ball hit to center or left field a shortstop must line himself up with the outfielder and the third baseman. The shortstop must be ready to throw either to third base to get the runner or to second base to get the hitter. The purpose of the cutoff is to prevent the hitter from taking an extra base and to keep a fast man from scoring all the way from first on a long single.

The idea is to know the throwing ability of your own arm. The best way to find out is in practice. That's how I learned.

Shortstop is the most interesting position in the infield.

11-Star Homers Are Top Thrills In Williams' Great Batting Career

By TED WILLIAMS

BOSTON (AP)—I never made a big hit in the only World Series I played so My Big Hit has to be the home run I hit in the 1941 All-Star game in Detroit. (Ted batted .406 that season).

It was one out in the ninth inning when Joe DiMaggio hit a ground ball that looked like a double play. But he beat out the on me. He threw me a slider and I hit it into the right field bleachers to win the game 7 to 5 for the American League.

Up until that time the big hero was Arky Vaughan. He had hit two home runs for the National League.
